YOUTH • BASEBALL • FOUNDATION

A Nonprofit Foundation in Support of Youth Baseball in the Puget Sound Region.

Dear Fans:

As we begin our 10th season Mariner baseball, we've started a new program to help support youth baseball in the Northwest.

Along with seven businesses and the Argyros Foundation, we have established the non-profit Mariners Youth Baseball Foundation. There is a first-year fund of $50,000 to provide matching grants up to $1,000 for the purchase of baseball equipment and other essential baseball items to boys and girls baseball organizations serving kids to age 15.

Please join me in saluting AirCal, Alpac (Pepsi), Boeing Hygrade Foods, GTE Northwest, Rainier Bank, and United Pacific Insurance for their enthusiastic sponsorship of the Mariners Youth Baseball Foundation.

If you would like to make a tax deductible contribution to the Foundation, or obtain some information about a matching fund grant for your youth baseball organization, please call our office at 628-3555.

Yours truly,

George Argyros

10 YEARS OF MARINER BASEBALL

Two things stand at the very top of Dave Niehaus' list of most memorable baseball moments:

1. The birth of a franchise.
2. The maturation of that franchise into a pennant-winner.

In 1977, when he came to the Pacific Northwest to broadcast games for the Seattle Mariners, Niehaus and a packed Kingdome saw the franchise come to life. Opening night, he recalls, was "a great thrill."

There have been other thrills, chills and spills over the course of the past nine seasons — remember Lenny Randle appearing to blow a slow roller foul — enough highlights and lesser lights to fill a three-volume set of Mariner Moments.

And now, as it begins this 10th anniversary season, the team may be on the verge of its finest moment — contending for the American League West pennant.

To get to this point, a point at which some national publications have picked the Mariners to finish second in the West behind World Series-winning Kansas City, the franchise has sailed some stormy seas. It has, frankly, seen both the best and the worst of times.

"There have been some fabulous times, some memorable games both on the positive and negative side," said Niehaus, who, along with visiting clubhouse manager Fred Genzale and Joan Moeller, the administrative assistant for ticket services, are the last of the original Mariners.

"Opening night in '77 was a great thrill," Niehaus continued, "but after two games I was wondering if we were ever going to score a run. At that time, I thought 'My gosh, what am I in for?' But you never forget things like Jose Baez' getting the first hit in franchise history, Dave Collins leading off as the first Mariner batter.

"Last year, Mike Moore flirting with the no-hitter. Gaylord Perry's 300th victory. Gorman Thomas gave the fans some thrills last year. Watching the development, the incredible development, of Phil Bradley. He was the real story last year. And Alvin Davis' great rookie year.

"There have been a lot of positives. Tom Paciorek's two homers against the Yankees. Bradley's grand slam home run last year.

"1982. '82 with Lach (former manager Rene Lachemann) was a fabulous year, it really was. Yeah, '82 was a good year."

1982, the club's sixth year, was its most successful. The team finished 76-86, placed fourth in the West and drew just over a million fans. It was the year Perry won his 300th, a 7-3 complete-game victory over the Yankees. It was the year a relatively unknown reliever named Bill Caudill came to town with one career save to his credit. He immediately asserted himself, to the opposition with his fastball, to his teammates with his pranksterish personality. Cuffs finished the season with a club-record 26 saves.

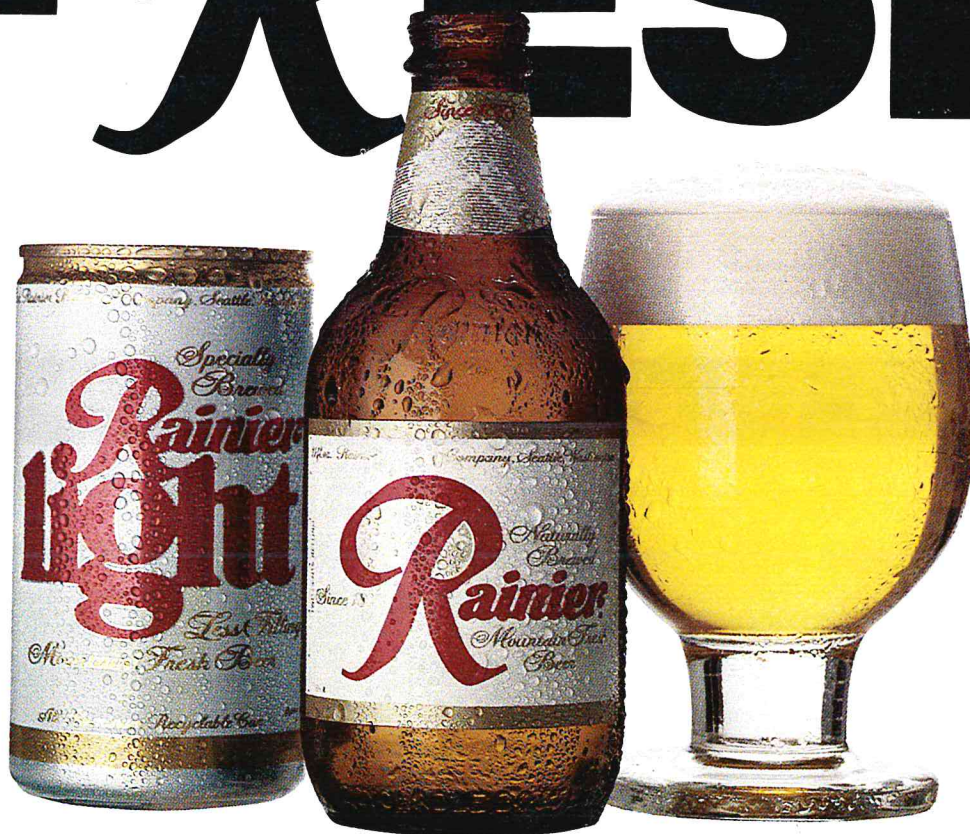

As is often the case, though, when ensuing seasons don't live up to a club's best — for proof, check out

10 YEARS OF MARINER BASEBALL

"MY OH MY" DAVE NIEHAUS has been in the M's broadcast booth since the club's inception in 1977.

every team in every city that has won a title in any sport but failed to repeat — the perception is usually worse than the reality. In 1984 and '85, the Mariners won 74 games, just two fewer than in '82, but the two-game drop-off paled somewhat in comparison to the perception of the slippage.

Considering all the woes that befell the team in 1985, particularly the injuries that sidelined four of the five starting pitchers and forced the club to call for help from as far away as its Class A minor-league teams, Niehaus might well call '85 a very good year, considering...

"You look at all the injuries we had last year, and we still tied the second-best record we've ever had — 74 victories," Niehaus said. "When you've got four of five pitchers on the DL all at the same time and you still win 74 games, beat Kansas City 10 games in a row, you just wonder what if they were healthy?"

"What if they're healthy this year? They might just win it."

Those folks picking Seattle to place as highly as second this season were no doubt wondering the same things and basing their predictions on what the Mariners were able to accomplish in 1985 despite a patched-up, pieced-together pitching staff that at one time included three starters with absolutely no major-league experience.

This 10th season will definitely be an interesting one for the Mariners.

But so were the first nine. From that very first pitch Diego Segui threw to catcher Bob Stinson, from that very first game against the Angels that attracted 57,762 to the Kingdome, the team has been interesting to watch.

There were the original six owners, who helped bring baseball back to Seattle. There is George Argyros, who rode to their rescue in 1981 with the financial support necessary to keep the team competitive. As the franchise has matured and evolved, there have been different presidents, general managers and field managers with different priorities and different levels of success.

There have been, through last season, 167 players who have worn Seattle's uniform.

Through all the changes that occurred the first nine years, there have been certain constants, though, certain commandments the Mariners have tried hard to live by. Among them, the three most important have been to keep big-league baseball in Seattle, to show continual improvement on the field, and to build a strong, productive franchise from within.

The organization has kept most of those promises.

Baseball is back for its 10th season under the big top. As for continual improvement, any franchise will tell you that's one tough pitch to hit year after year. In Seattle's case, and using its won-lost record as the basis, improvement has usually been an every-other-year sort of thing.

In 1977, the Mariners won a surprising 64 games and finished sixth. In 1978, they won 56 games, but came back the next year with 67. 1980 was another down year, with 59 victories and a .364 winning percentage, but strike-shortened 1981 showed a .404 winning percentage that rose to .469 in 1982. Another drop, to 60 victories, came in 1983, but a league-best 14-game improvement to 74 victories followed in 1984 and was matched last season.

As for the final commandment — a 10th commandment of sorts for this 10th anniversary season — to grow from within, to build a quality major-league team through a strong, productive farm system, few franchises can point with as much pride to their home-grown talent as can the Mariners.

The farm systems most often pointed to as role models belong to the Dodgers, Royals and Orioles. It may not be long before Seattle's is added to that exclusive list.

You don't have to look any farther than the field in front of you to see the results of Seattle's growth in that regard.

At first base is Alvin Davis, the 1984 American League rookie of the year. He's a farm product. At second is Danny Tartabull, another farm product. So is shortstop Spike Owen and third baseman Jim Presley. Look around the outfield, at Phil Bradley in left, Dave Henderson in center and Ivan Calderon in right. All farm products.

The starting rotation includes at least three more in Mark Langston, Matt Young and Mike Moore. There are more in the bullpen, including Edwin Nunez and Karl Best.

They're all young, with Nunez the youngest at 22 and Young the oldest at 27. And they're all good enough to cause the baseball-speaking world to wonder what might happen if they all put it together.

You want quality?

How about Davis, who batted .284 with 27 homers and 116 RBI in 1984 and hit .287 with 18 homers and 78 RBI a year ago? Best was 2-1 with 4 saves and a 1.95 ERA in 1985 despite missing more than half of the season. Calderon was also hurt, but despite a broken wrist he batted .286 with 8 homers. Twenty-eight of his 60 hits went for extra bases.

How about Bradley, who calmly batted .301 in 1984, then hit .300 in 1985 with 26 homers and 88 RBI? He represented Seattle in the all-star game last season.

Henderson, in four years, has become the team's all-time leader in homers with 65. His steady performance at the plate and sparkling play in the field have helped solidify the team. Langston was the AL's rookie pitcher of the year in 1984, when he won 17 games and led the league with 204 strikeouts. Moore won 17 last season, the fourth-best total in the league. His 14 complete games were second in the AL, his 155 strikeouts 10th and his 3.46 ERA 13th.

Nunez, at the tender age of 22, already has 23 career saves. Sixteen of them came last season, when he was 7-3 with a 3.09 ERA. Owen batted .259 a year ago and has quickly become one of the league's top defensive shortstops.

Presley clubbed 28 homers a year ago, drove in 84 runs and batted .275.

Young, despite a 29-42 major-league record, has frequently displayed the kind of stuff that could make him a consistent winner for years.

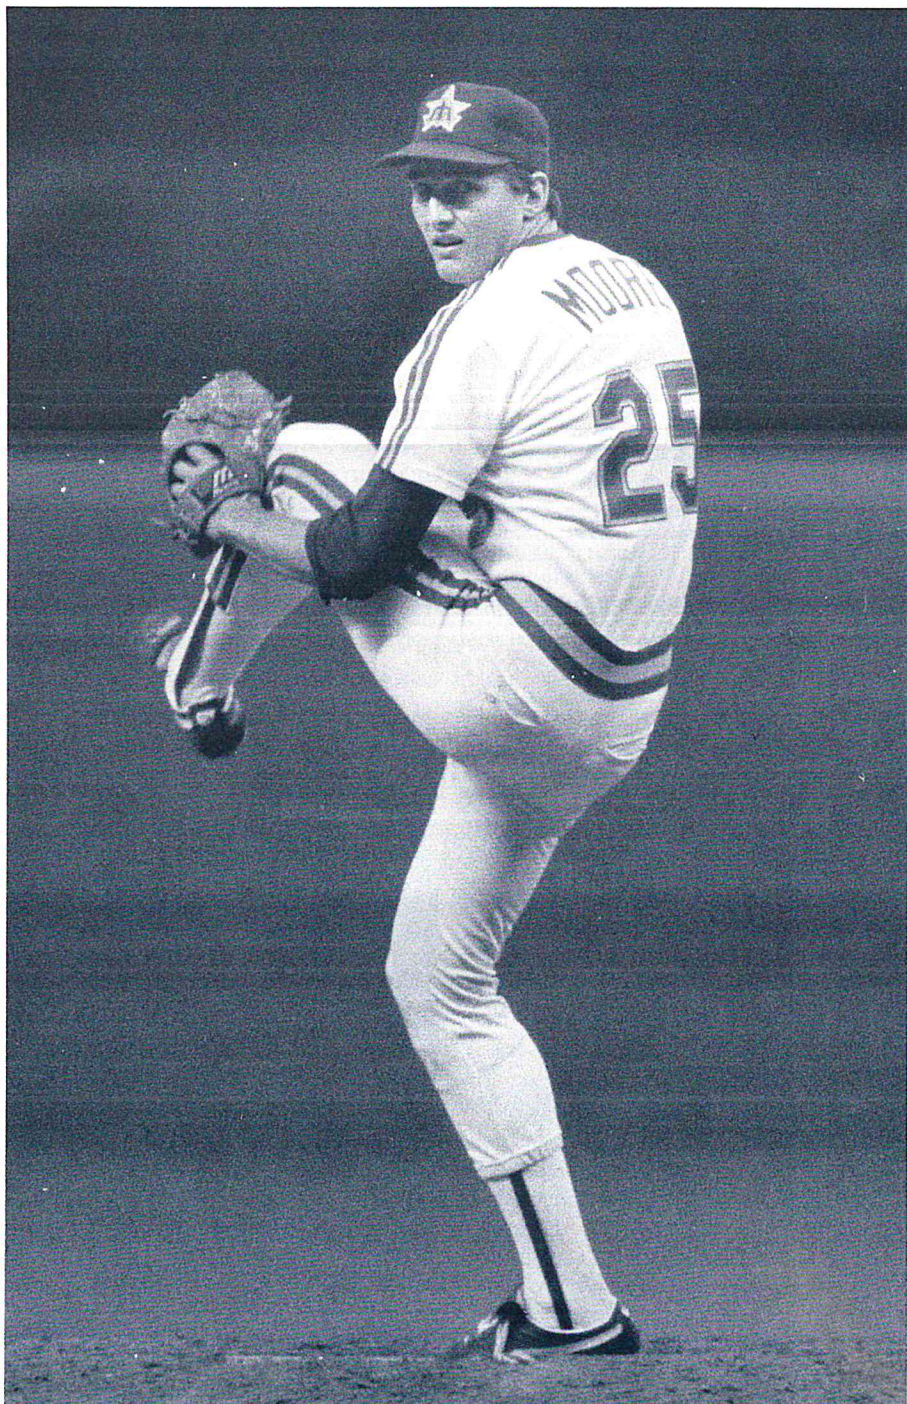

And years are what Tartabull has to look forward to. As Yogi would say, his future is ahead of him. Last season, the 23-year-old slugged 44 homers, 43 at the Class AAA level. In two Septembers with the Mariners, he has batted .321 with 3 homers and 14 RBI in 29 games.

Years of consistently good baseball are also what the Mariners may be looking forward to. The foundation has been laid. In this, their 10th season, they may be poised to start applying the finishing touches, things like 80- and 90-win seasons, a pennant or two, maybe even the best thing of all, a World Series ring.

The first nine years are history now, and the future, as bright as it looks, is out there awaiting its time.

This is 1986, the Mariners' 10th season, a season which may prove to be a very nice 10th anniversary present for the baseball fans in the Pacific Northwest. ☆

MIKE MOORE finished his finest season to date in the major leagues with a 17-10 club mark in 1985.

America's #1 Roast Beef Restaurant Salutes Baseball's RBI Leaders.

THE START OF A NEW TRADITION.

A new tradition begins this season as Arby's, an official sponsor of Major League Baseball, recognizes the RBI leaders in both the American and National leagues with the all new Arby's RBI award. This marks the first time Major League Baseball's RBI leaders will be officially recognized with their own award. Arby's will present the award each year at the World Series to both league leaders.

GOING TO BAT FOR KIDS

At Arby's, we also want to make a better life for children everywhere. So, we are giving the Big Brothers/Big Sisters Organization $1,000 for every RBI generated each season by the National and American league RBI leaders. Based on past RBI performance, this will add up to at least $250,000 each year for Big Brothers/Big Sisters. On our team, every kid's a winner!

"SPEED PITCH" SET FOR IT'S SECOND SUMMER

The Mariner "Speed Pitch" program has expanded and will hit the road in '86.

The M's "Speed Pitch" program, sponsored by Pepsi Free and Hygrade Ballpark Franks, now has two pitching cages with radar gun. Which means that one will be located at the Kingdome for every Mariner home game and one will be portable, making stops at various locations throughout the greater Puget Sound area. To find the stops near you, just stay tuned to KUBE (93.3 FM) and all Mariner broadcasts on KIRO (710 AM) for complete travel schedules.

Fans of all ages have tested their velocity over the past twelve months. For a couple of quarters (3 pitches for 50 cents) you can clock your best fastball with the same radar gun the scouts use to gauge the speed of future major leaguers. All proceeds from both "Speed Pitch" machines go directly to the M's Youth Baseball Foundation (see page 31 for information on the Youth Baseball Foundation). Last season, the M's lone "Speed Pitch" machine, located primarily at the Kingdome, raised over $13,000 dollars for Puget Sound areas boys and girls youth baseball programs and the Special Olympics.

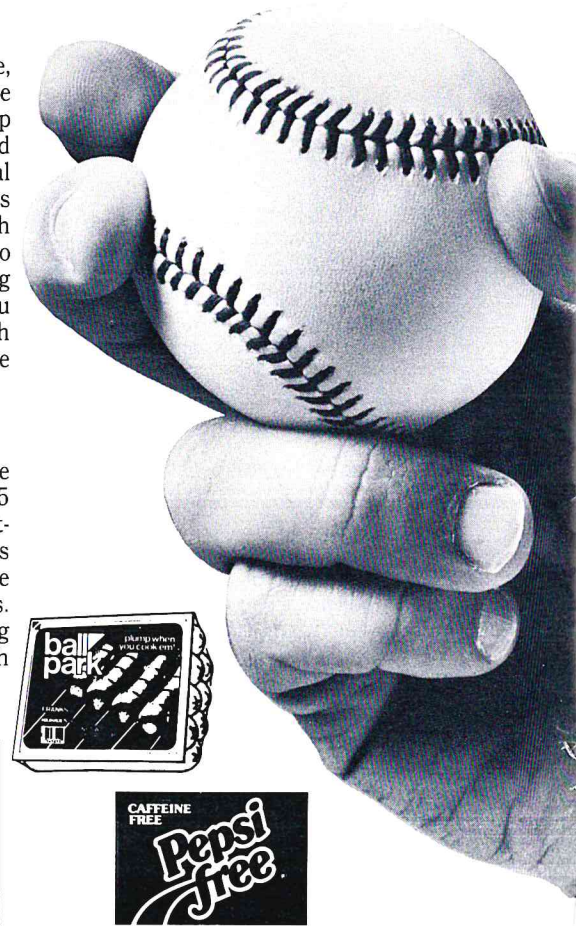

PRE-GAME WARMUP FOR THE FANS

Located near gate "C" at the Kingdome, the "Speed Pitch" is a great pre-game activity for the whole family. The first step is proper physical preparation by each and every thrower. With the aid of a special stretching program designed by M's trainer Rick Griffin and pitching coach Phil Regan, every participant is advised to take a few extra minutes prior to throwing and loosen up their throwing muscles. You will get an immediate reading on each pitch, so your "personal best" will be established after your very first pitch.

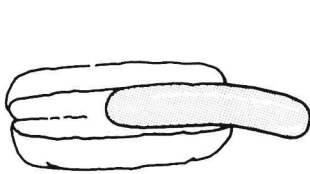

A BIG LEAGUE FASTBALL

For the sake of argument, an average major league fastball travels at about 85 miles per hour. A good major league fastball will easily exceed 90 mph and the tops in the league, like a good Mike Moore "heater", will often reach the upper 90's. But don't be discouraged, a good breaking ball is just as effective and travels much slower, around 70+ mph.

CAN YOU TOP THIS ... The top mark registered on the M's "Speed Pitch" is 89 mph. The record was established last summer by 25-year-old Seattle resident Alba Mallory.

STOP BY AND ENJOY THE VIEW.

Snoqualmie Falls is among Washington's most popular scenic attractions.

And no wonder. This spectacular 268-foot natural cataract is 100 feet taller than famed Niagara Falls and rich in Northwest history.

In 1898, we built the state's first major hydroelectric plant—and the world's first totally underground generating facility—here at Snoqualmie Falls.

And because scenic beauty is an important part of life here in the Northwest, we've made much of our Snoqualmie Falls property available for public use.

For one thing, we've developed a landscaped park with picnic tables, shelter, restrooms and food concession.

We've also provided a hiking trail through the towering evergreens and built a cantilevered platform overlooking the falls to give you a better view.

It's all part of our commitment to help preserve the scenic and recreational value of the areas we serve.

For information about this or other company-owned property we've developed for your use and enjoyment, contact your local Puget Power office.

FAMILY "NON-ALCOHOL" SECTIONS ENTER SECOND SEASON

In 1985, the Mariners became one of the first Major League Baseball clubs to establish special Family Non Alcohol Sections in their home ballpark. For all home games at the Kingdome, fans were able to request seating in these special sections when purchasing their tickets both in advance or when the Kingdome ticket windows open two hours prior to each game.

The success of the experimental program has confirmed the need for such accommodations and the Mariners are pleased to announce that the special sections will again be offered in 1986. This year's sections will be sponsored by PEMCO Financial Center and Dutch Boy Paints and will once again be available in all five ticket categories. (In the general admission sections, seats are available on a first-come, first-served basis only).

Baseball is one of the leading forms of family entertainment. The Family Sections are designed to make a visit to the Kingdome even more appealing for fans who would prefer to sit in an area where no alcoholic beverages may be sold or consumed.

Commenting on the success of the program, M's Vice President Bill Knudsen said, "The response we received last year certainly reinforced our decision to establish a Family Section at the Kingdome. With the help of PEMCO, Dutch Boy Paints and the Kingdome, we will once again be able to provide a more comfortable environment for all types of fans to view Mariner baseball."

If you have any questions regarding the PEMCO/Dutch Boy Paints Family Sections, please call the Mariner office at (206) 628-3555.

The following sections have been designated as "Family Non-Alcohol" Sections.

GEORGE ARGYROS, Owner

George Argyros, since purchasing the Seattle Mariners on January 14, 1981 has become one of the most active owners in major league baseball. He is very involved in numerous activities in the Pacific Northwest, while serving on some of the most important action committees in the game of baseball.

An aggressive and innovative owner, Mr. Argyros has served as a member of Baseball's Revenue Sharing Committee, Restructuring Committee, member of Board of Directors of the American League and Commissioner Selection Committee.

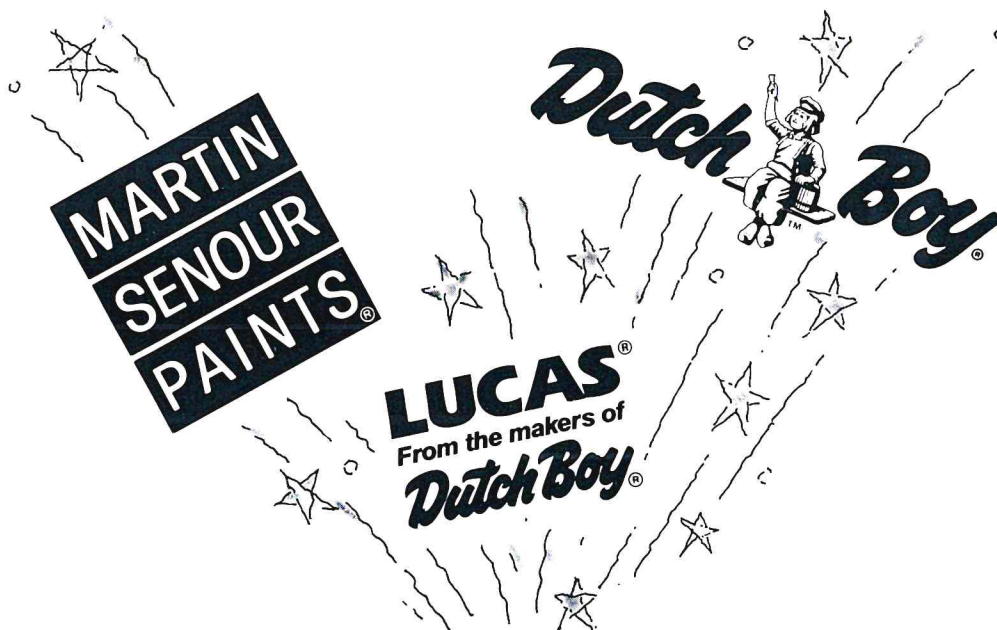

In his five years as owner of the Mariners, George has placed a priority on community involvement continually encouraging the players, staff and business groups throughout the Northwest, while participating himself. He has been chairman of the Puget Sound Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society's fund-raising effort.

Mr. Argyros, 49, was born in Detroit, Michigan, and raised in Pasadena, California. He attended Michigan State University and Chapman College, graduating with a major in Business and Economics in 1959.

George Argyros is Chief Executive Officer and President of Arnel Development Company and Affiliates, a prominent West Coast real estate company. In 1981, he became a Director, Chairman of the Executive Committee and a principal shareholder of AirCal, an airline serving the West Coast, including Seattle and Portland. He also serves as a member of the Advisory Board, Rainier Venture Partners.

Mr. Argyros is Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Chapman College, one of the West's finest private colleges, serves on the Board of both the National Council of Independent Colleges and the Independent Colleges of Southern California; Executive Board, Orange County Council, Boy Scouts of America; Trustee, Orange County Performing Arts Center; is active in the Young Presidents' Organization, and is a recognized business leader in the community, with involvement in numerous other civic and community activities.

DICK BALDERSON

Vice President, Baseball Operations

Born February 7, 1946 in Newport News, Va. ... Named Vice President, Baseball Operations on October 8, 1985 ... Responsible for the Mariners' major league operations, player development and scouting departments.

Prior to joining the Mariners, he served as the Kansas City Royals' director of player development ... In his ten years with the Royals' administration (joined the K.C. organization in April 1976), he has been directly responsible for the formation and direction of one of baseball's most successful minor league systems.

His first association with the Royals came as a player in 1968 (non-drafted free agent) ... His minor league pitching career ended in June 1975 at Double A Jacksonville (Southern League) ... He moved to the Royals' front office prior to the '76 season, assuming the duties of assistant farm director ... Promoted to the position of director of minor league operations in 1980 ... In October 1981, he received another promotion and was named director of scouting and player development.

A graduate of the University of Richmond, he earned a bachelor of arts degree in history while starring on the Spiders' baseball team (1966-68) ... He still holds the school's single-season marks for complete games, shutouts and innings pitched ... He is also the Spiders' all-time leader in complete games, shutouts and ERA (1.58).

Dick and his wife, Marcia, reside in Bellevue with son, Brett (6) and daughter, Melissa (1).

BRIAN BEGGS

Vice President, Finance and Administration

Born October 18, 1946 in Palo Alto, California ... Promoted to Vice President on March 15, 1983 from his previous position as the club's Controller which he held for two years ... Responsible for all financial and administrative functions of the organization.

A graduate of Whitman College in Walla Walla with a B.A. in Economics and the University of Santa Clara with an M.B.A. ... Joined the Mariners in March of 1981 ... Prior to entering baseball, he spent seven years with the Dole foods division of Castle & Cooke, Inc., one of the original large Hawaiian corporations ... Immediately prior to coming on board with the Mariners he was chief financial officer of Dole Thailand, Ltd. ... While in this position he and his family lived in Bangkok, Thailand.

Long a fan of baseball, he has been involved with the sport for many years as a player in youth leagues and, more recent, as a coach and manager of youth baseball teams ... As a specialist in strategic planning and financial management, his skills are well suited to the ever increasing need for the sound application of proven business principles to the unique undertaking of providing major league baseball to the Pacific Northwest.

Brian and his wife, Vicki, reside in Redmond with their son, Rob (17) and daughter, Kristen (13).

MUSEUM OF FLIGHT

LET YOUR IMAGINATION SOAR!

Come visit the famous Red Barn, the original Boeing Company airplane factory and the first structure in a complex that will soon include a striking six-story steel and glass Great Gallery large enough to house a fleet of flying machines—from an early-day hot air balloon to the most advanced space vehicle.

Creative exhibits highlight some of the greatest moments in aviation, with the magic of flight brought alive through an array of displays, models, demonstrations, and videos. See the beautifully restored 1917 Curtiss Jenny Biplane and a working replica of the Wright Brothers' original wind tunnel.

The Museum of Flight is located ten minutes from downtown Seattle at Boeing Field, Exit 158 from I-5.

Open daily, May 31 to September

BILL KNUDSEN

Vice President, Marketing and Sales

Born October 13, 1943 in Missoula, Montana ... Named Vice President of Sales and Marketing on October 8, 1984 ... His responsibilities include the management of all sales and marketing programs, the Mariner radio and television network, advertising, promotions, public affairs, corporate sponsorship and special events.

Graduated from Shoreline High School in 1961 and attended the University of Washington and Northwestern University Business School in 1967 ... Prior to joining the Mariners he served as Vice President/General Manager of KSEA radio in Seattle, (a division of KIRO, Inc.) a position he held since January 1981 ... He was responsible for planning and executing programming, promotion, sales, advertising and overall station direction with the ultimate goal of maximizing station listener rating and revenue shares.

Before his stint at KSEA he held positions as General Sales Manager of KVI AM, Seattle, and General Sales Manager of KOL AM/FM, Seattle ... Began his business career as a stockbroker in Seattle in the mid-60's at Fox-Raff & Company where he held the position of Vice President; and Shearson Hammill & Company, where he was sales manager.

Bill and his wife, Ellie, are long-time residents of the Pacific Northwest, currently residing in Bellevue with their son Matthew (3).

SAM SPERRY

Vice President, Community Affairs

Born March 28, 1941 in Portland, Oregon; raised in Seattle ... Named Vice President, Community Affairs on January 14, 1986 ... His responsibilities include management of the club's community relations and representation of club management/ownership in business, civic and governmental activities.

A graduate of Seattle's Blanchet High School, Sam earned a B.A. degree in history from Seattle University (1965) and a M.S. degree in public affairs from the University of Oregon (1970) ... His educational training also included a Professional Journalism Fellowship at the University of Michigan and an Adjunct Professorship at Seattle University ... Prior to joining the Mariners, he served for nearly two years as executive staff assistant to the King County Executive ... His work with local and regional government also includes a five year stint as director of the Seattle Energy Office (1977-81) and consultant work with the Northwest Power Planning Council (1982-83).

A former sports editor with KING-TV and staff reporter for the Seattle Times and Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Sam's working knowledge of local media will benefit the M's total media relations program, especially in the area of non-sports media.

Sam and his wife, Winnie, reside in Seattle with their daughters, Katherine, Elizabeth and Sarah and son, Joe.

Make one call to your GTE Account Manager instead of a hundred calls to suppliers.

Starting with that one call, your GTE Account Manager can spearhead any telecommunications project.

Your Account Manager will analyze your present systems, equipment, services and usage. Then, backed by a wide range of telecommunications specialists and our century-long experience, suggest ways to improve your communications while, at the same time, controlling costs.

You'll get a plan tailored to your business alone. It will include recommendations for local telephone services, long-distance, office systems including data, and any other appropriate service such as cellular phones, paging and packet-switched data.

A single call to your GTE Account Manager can start the ball rolling toward modernizing your present system, adding to it, or totally replacing it.

THE MARINER PLAYER OF THE MONTH AWARD

For the second consecutive season the Mariners, SeaFirst Bank and the Seattle Post-Intelligencer will join forces to present a Mariner with a Player of the Month award.

The recipient of the award will be selected by a vote of 20 local sportswriters and sportscasters, based on each player's performance for one month. Each Player of the Month winner will receive various gifts and $500 will be donated to his favorite charity. Through the award a total of $3,000 will be donated to local charities.

In 1985 five different Mariners were selected for the award. Outfielder Phil Bradley was the first winner in April, and was followed by pitcher Mike Moore in May. Third baseman Jim Presley was named June's recipient while veteran slugger Gorman Thomas took the July award. 1984 Rookie of the Year Alvin Davis came alive to capture August honors, while Phil Bradley captured his second Player of the Month award in September.

JR. MARINER ATHLETIC FIELD PROGRAM

One of the most ambitious projects in all of sports is the Jr. Mariner Athletic Field Program, which is designed to provide the second most important component for youngsters to play organized baseball — a complete field, with backstop, fence, dugouts, etc.

The most important component is the men and women who volunteer their time and energy to make youth baseball possible. These volunteers in the Puget Sound area are excited about the Jr. Mariner Athletic Fields.

In conjunction with The Boeing Company, the Mariners are building one complete baseball facility a year through 1990 for boys and girls to learn to play our national pastime. Hopefully, thousands of youngsters will grow up playing on fields built by the Mariners and Boeing, a long-term investment in our youth.

The City of Carnation was the recipient of the first Jr. Mariner Field, which is now being completed in Tolt/McDonald Park. King County has provided funds to build an addition to the field and maintain the facility. The Snoqualmie Valley Little League will primarily use the field, but it will also be utilized by over 800 youngsters per year in many sports programs.

An advisory board made up of business leaders and area baseball representatives will announce in September the community which will receive the next field. Their decision is based on community need, civic support and volunteer assistance. Last year, 17 communities applied.

If your city, town or community would like to be considered for the next Jr. Mariner Athletic Field, please contact Sam Sperry at the Mariner office for applications (206) 628-3555.

YOUTH BASEBALL FOUNDATION

YOUTH ♦ BASEBALL ♦ FOUNDATION

The Seattle Mariners have established a non-profit foundation called the Mariners Youth Baseball Foundation (MYBF). The MYBF was conceived by the Mariners to support youth baseball organizations throughout the Puget Sound region.

Initially, the MYBF will be funded by AirCal, The Argyros Foundation, Pepsi, Boeing, G.T.E., Hygrade Foods, Rainier Bank, United Pacific Insurance, the Mariners Speed Pitch, and cash donations from Mariner players, fans and local businesses.

It is anticipated that funding for the 1986 inaugural year will be approximately $50,000, with this figure increasing in years to come.

The MYBF will provide "matching funds" (50%/50%) assistance to leagues, groups, organizations, communities, etc. . . ., of up to $1,000 per organization. The MYBF's assistance to organizations will be based on:

- 1) Genuine community need.
- 2) Amount of "work" done to raise organization's funds.
- 3) Monies available in the MYBF.
- 4) Baseball organizations primarily comprised of kids aged 15 & under.

The MYBF will primarily provide assistance that is to be used for:

- 1) Baseball equipment (including uniforms, pitching machines, etc. . . .)
- 2) Baseball field improvements (including lighting, scoreboards, etc. . . .)

Youth baseball organizations wishing to apply for "matching funds" should:

- 1) Submit a MYBF "Application for Funds" form.
- 2) Submit copies of three bids from the suppliers of equipment and/or field improvements.
- 3) Submit an action plan describing the project planned to raise 50% of the needed funds.

For more information on the Foundation, please contact Ross Skinner at the Mariner office (206) 628-3555, or write Mariner Youth Baseball Foundation, P.O. Box 4100, Seattle, WA 98104.

SIZING UP THE DIAMOND

Dimensions

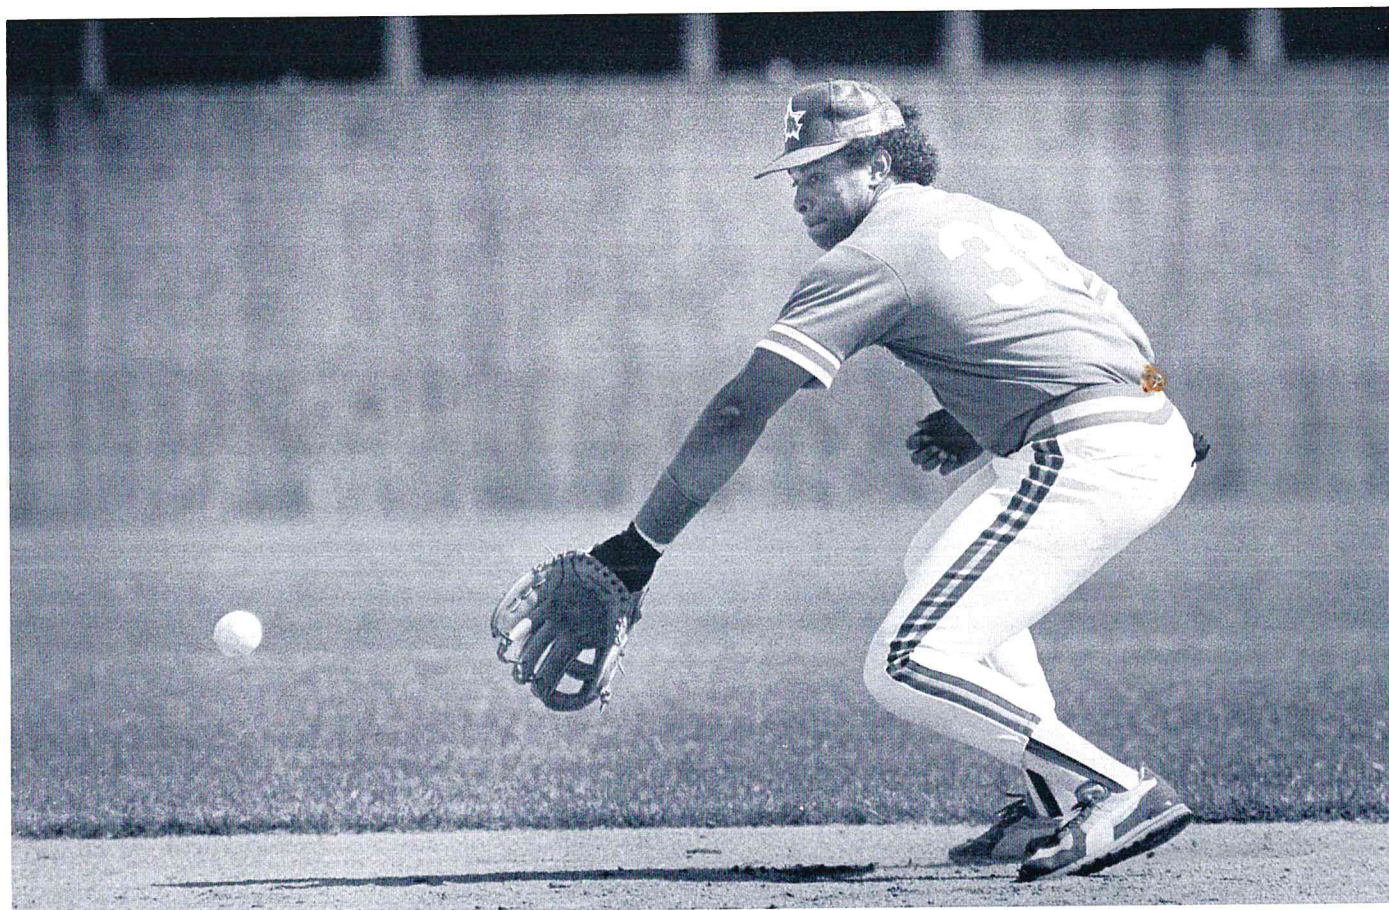

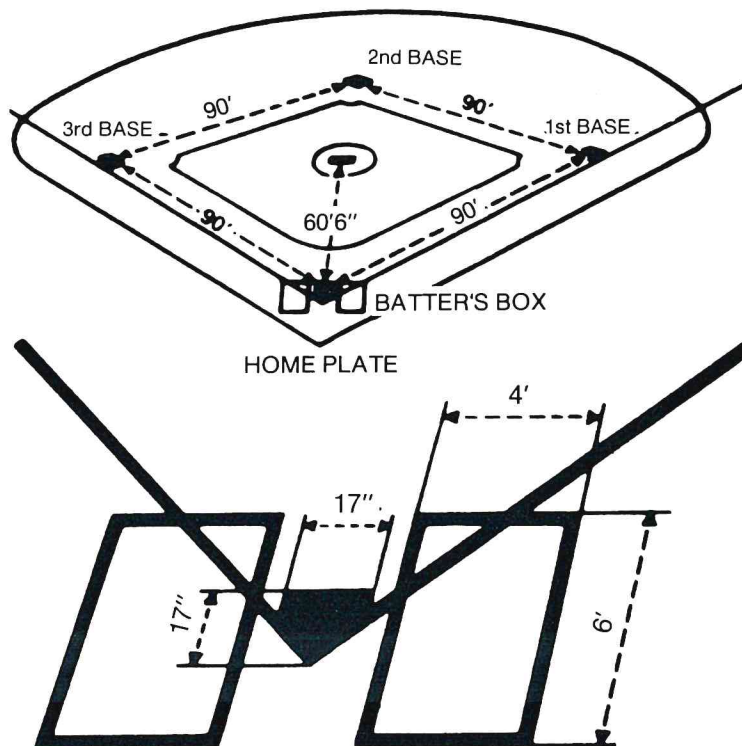

Home Plate — The plate has five irregular sides. The side facing the pitcher is 17 inches, two sides are 8½ inches and the two others are each 12 inches. The extension of these last two reach to first and third bases as far as the fences, marking the limits of the foul lines.

Batter's Box — On each side of the plate is a white rectangle, four feet wide by six feet deep, called the batter's box. The batter must remain within these limits to hit the ball.

Pitcher's Mound — The pitcher's plate, a white rectangular piece of whitened rubber, 24 inches by 6 inches, is 10 inches above the level of home plate. The distance between the pitching rubber and the plate (the rear point of the plate) is 60 feet, 6 inches.

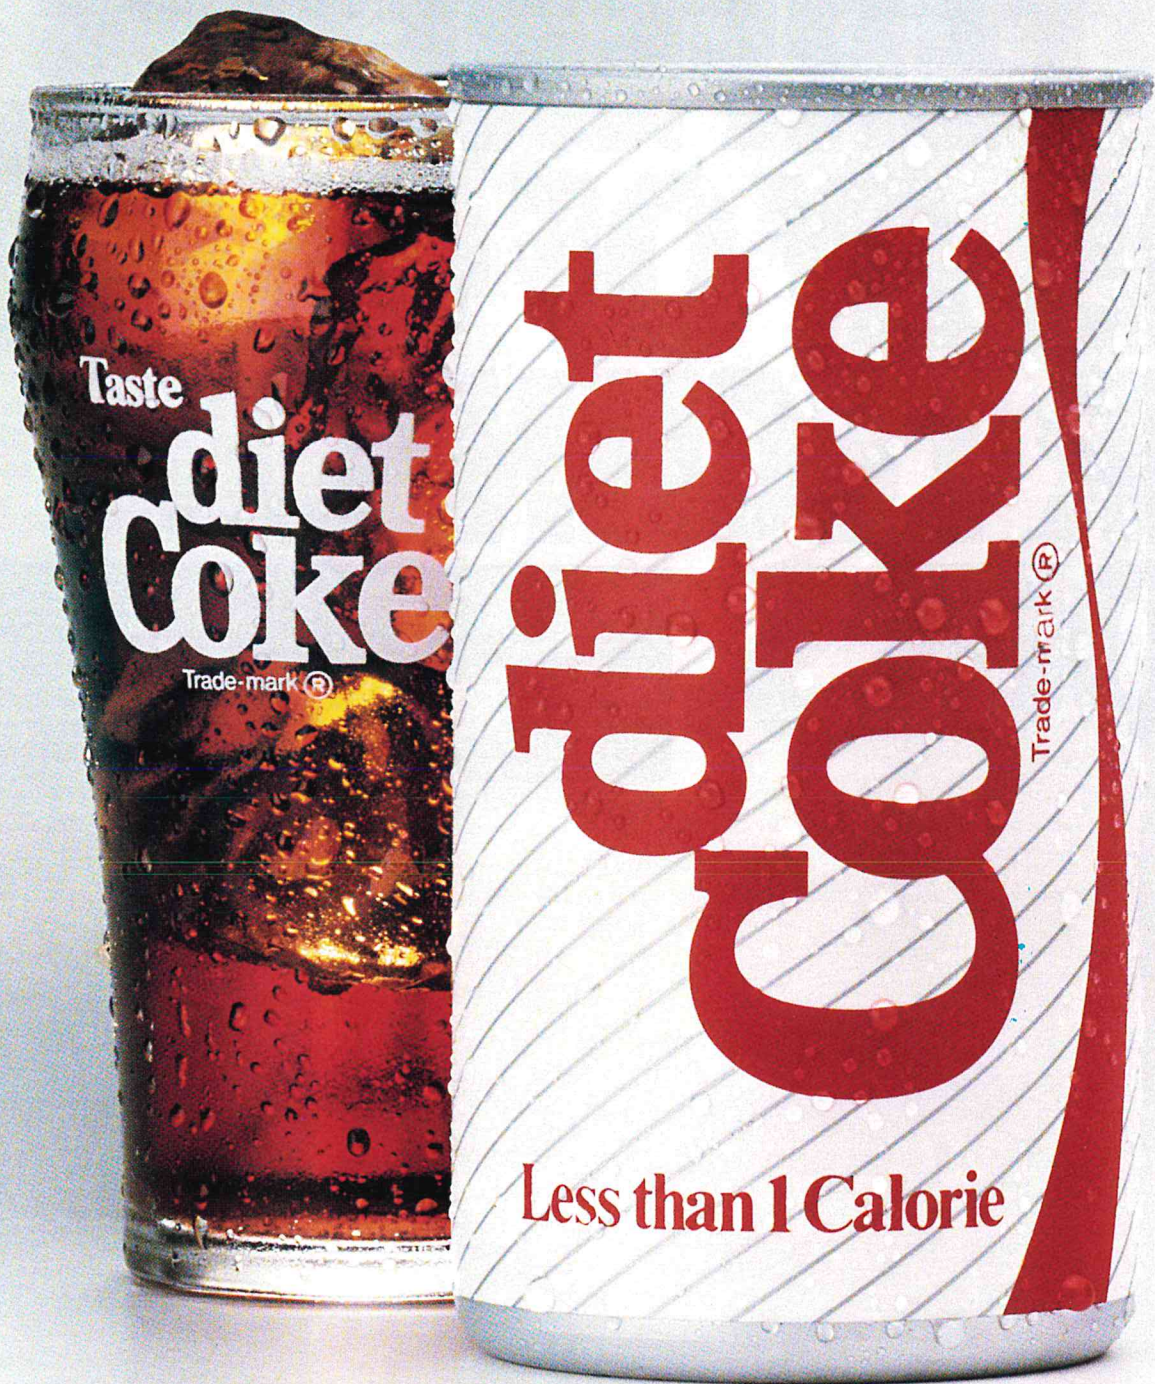

Distances —

Between bases (including home plate)	90 ft.
Between home plate and second base	127 ft. 3/8 in.
From pitcher's mound to home plate	60 ft. 6 in.
From home plate to backstop	60 ft. (min.)

MARINERS IN THE COMMUNITY

Over the past few years, the Mariner organization has increased its involvement in charitable, civic and youth-oriented activities throughout the Pacific Northwest. Through these community service projects, the Mariners helped raise over $180,000 for non-profit groups in 1985 alone. Described below are many of the outstanding projects that are scheduled for 1986. If you would like further information on these community activities, please call the Mariner Office at (206) 628-3555.

JR. MARINER ATHLETIC FIELDS

In conjunction with the Boeing Company and several other community-minded businesses, the Mariners have developed a program which will result in the construction of a Jr. Mariner Athletic Field each spring through 1990. Cities and towns in the Puget Sound area are invited to submit a proposal and exhibit their support of youth baseball. One community will be the recipient of a brand new field next spring.

The City of Carnation, Wash., earned the first such field, which will be ready for action this spring. The selection was based on community need, civic support and volunteer assistance.

YOUTH • BASEBALL • FOUNDATION

MARINER YOUTH BASEBALL FOUNDATION

The Mariners recognize that the roots of baseball are at the amateur level, particularly youth baseball, and the volunteer men and women who are dedicated to giving boys and girls the opportunity to learn and play our national pastime. The Mariner Youth Baseball Foundation has been created for the 1986 season to help provide bats, balls, bases, fences, dugouts, scoreboards and uniforms for youth baseball leagues. Initially funded by Air Cal, the Argyros Foundation, Pepsi, Boeing, G.T.E., Hygrade Foods, Rainier Bank and United Pacific Life Insurance, the Foundation will distribute a projected $50,000 in 1986.

Contributions from other companies and individuals are welcome. The Youth Baseball Foundation will operate on a system of matching funds from local league projects. For further details, contact Ross Skinner at the Mariner Office (206) 628-3555; P.O. Box 4100, Seattle, WA 98104.

FRED HUTCHINSON CANCER RESEARCH DONATION

Once again in 1986, the Mariners and Rainier Bank will team up for a season-long benefit that is truly Big League Stuff. Rainier Bank contributed to the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center based on the performance of the Mariners — a donation of $50 for each M's home run, stolen base and doubleplay; $100 for each shutout; and $500 for each grand slam and no-hitter. Last year a total of $23,100 was raised for the Research Center by this program.

NORTHWEST HARVEST TO BENEFIT FOR M'S VICTORIES

To benefit area food banks through Northwest Harvest, every time the Mariners post a win in 1986, Pacific Northwest Bell will donate $250. Should the M's win 81 games, for example, a sum of $20,250 would be given to help feed the hungry by PNB.

PROJECT HOME RUN: A DAY FOR THE DISABLED

The second annual Project Home Run is scheduled for Sunday, June 15, when the Mariners host the Chicago White Sox in the Kingdome at 1:35 p.m. This project is designed to raise money for the Resource Center for Handicapped. In 1985, with the cooperation of King and Pierce Counties and over 150 businesses, over 4,000 disabled persons attended a game in August, and over $15,000 was raised. Before the game, disabled persons demonstrated their skills in soccer, tennis and other activities.

SEATTLE BENEFIT FOR THE HOMELESS

On Friday, June 13, the Mariners, Seattle Mayor Royer's Task Force on Street People and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services will collect items to benefit Seattle's homeless. Fans are asked to bring canned food, blankets, clothing and other items to the Kingdome, in exchange for Mariner gift items. In 1985, an estimated $15,000 in cash and supplies was distributed to local shelters as a result of this event.

ABOVE: Mariner Clinics were popular throughout the off-season. Dave Henderson, Jim Beattie and many other M's players and coaches passed along tips to many youngsters this winter.

BELOW: Bill Swift assists volunteers of Pacific Northwest Bell as they collect canned goods at the Kingdome. This food is distributed to food banks around the state by Northwest Harvest.

MARINER BASEBALL

KIRO-TV 7 AND NEWSRADIO 71 TO BRING MARINER BASEBALL TO FANS IN THE NORTHWEST

The Mariners and KIRO-TV Channel 7 will team this season to televise at least 35 Mariner baseball games back to the Pacific Northwest. They join their radio partner KIRO Newsradio 71, currently in their second year of a five-year contract, to broadcast each Mariner regular season game during this 10th anniversary season. A complete listing of the Mariner radio and TV networks can be found on page 50.

Seattle's CBS affiliate, KIRO is one of just a few major league baseball teams whose flagship station is network affiliated. The Mariners will team with KIRO Newsradio 71, a 50,000-watt AM station and the Pacific Northwest's most powerful signal, through the 1989 season.

Bringing you all the exciting action in 1986 will be the M's tandem of Dave Niehaus and Rick Rizzs. Joining the duo in the television booth will be former major league pitcher Ken Brett as the color commentator.

DAVE NIEHAUS has been behind the microphone for every Mariner regular season game since the club's inception in 1977 — except one. In June 1982 Dave took a night off to attend his son Andy's graduation from Interlake High School.

Dave is recognized as one of the best and most exciting broadcasters in the game of baseball, and has become instantly identified with Mariner baseball wherever he goes. His expression of "MY-OH-MY" and "It Will Fly Away" have become familiar throughout the Northwest.

Niehaus was born and raised in Princeton, Ind., and is a graduate of Indiana University, where he worked for the campus radio station. He went to work for the Armed Forces Radio-TV service, calling the action for Los Angeles Dodger games, before moving to New York to handle Yankee baseball, as well as basketball and hockey from Madison Square Garden.

After leaving the service he returned to work in Los Angeles, broadcasting Dodgers', Rams' and Lakers' games. From 1969-76 he teamed with Dick Enberg and Don Drysdale to call the action for the California Angels. He has also broadcast UCLA football and basketball (1973-76). Dave now resides in Bellevue with wife Marilyn and their children Andy, Matt and Greta.

RICK RIZZS joined the Mariners in 1983 and has handled play-by-play duties with Niehaus on radio and television the past two seasons. Rizzs (pronounced RIZ), 30, broadcast the Columbus (Ohio) Clippers of the International League and Ohio State football for two years on WBNS radio before moving to Seattle. He is a 1975 graduate of Southern Illinois University of Carbondale.

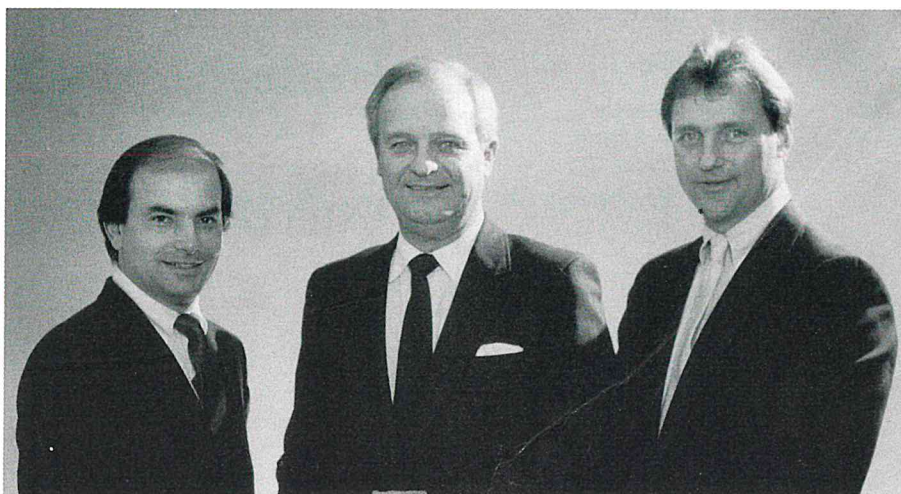

From 1975-80 Rick was the play-by-play announcer at the double-A level with the Alexandria Aces, Amarillo Gold Sox and Memphis Chicks. He was named Ohio "Sportscaster of the Year" by the Ohio Sportscasters Association. Rick is single and resides in Bellevue.

KEN BRETT begins his first season as the color commentator for all Mariner telecasts in 1986. A veteran of 12 major league seasons, Ken is one of only three pitchers to have played on 10 different clubs.

Used primarily as a starter throughout his career, he compiled an 85-83 mark with an ERA of 3.93 in 349 games. Remembered as one of the best hitting pitchers during his career (91-262/262 with 10 career homeruns), Ken set a major league record for pitchers in 1973 when he homered in four consecutive starts. He is also credited with being the youngest pitcher ever to pitch in a World Series game. He appeared in three League Championship Series and was the winning pitcher in his only All-Star Game appearance, in 1974. Last season Ken managed the Utica Blue Sox (Class A — New York-Penn League) to a second place finish.

Niehaus, Rizzs, Brett and KIRO and its networks will be on hand all year long to bring you the Mariners' 10th anniversary season in 1986.

Veteran Mariner broadcaster Dave Niehaus is flanked by play-by-play partner Rick Rizzs, left, and television color commentator Ken Brett.

MARINER BASEBALL

THE DIFFERENCE A YEAR CAN MAKE

by Scott Barry

Baseball is a game of perceptions, of comparisons, and of sometimes stark realities.

During spring training, every one of the 26 major-league teams is perceived as a pennant-winner; during the season, players are perceived to be either better or worse than they're performing. "He's better than that" and "He's just not that good" are phrases heard every day at the ballyard.

And the comparisons are constant and unyielding. Great teams are compared to the greatest teams. Every player is compared to every other one who ever played the position. Great players are compared to Aaron, Young, Rose, Johnson and Maris.

And so it goes.

The Seattle Mariners of 1986 are being perceived, compared, assessed and judged right now. They're being compared to Mariner teams of seasons past and to their opponents in the American League West. They're being perceived as winners, assessed as contenders, and judged favorably by the rest of the baseball world.

How close a resemblance all that bears to reality will also be judged, by the only thing that ultimately matters — the 162-game schedule.

Don't misunderstand, though. The perceptions and comparisons and all the rest are important. There is a reality of sorts in them, particularly as they apply to the Mariners.

A year ago, Seattle wound up 74-88 and placed sixth in the AL West, 17 games behind Kansas City, the eventual World Series winner.

This year, despite making fewer roster moves than most of the teams in the majors, the Mariners are being perceived to be much, much better than they were last season — than they have been in any of their first nine seasons.

"Every year, there's a team that emerges," said Tracy Ringolsby. "At the winter meetings (held in December), everybody said they expected the Mariners to be a surprise in '86."

Ringolsby knows the Mariners well, as a former baseball writer for the Post-Intelligencer. Before that, he covered the Angels. Last year, he followed Kansas City, and this year, as a baseball writer for the Dallas Morning News, he's covering the Texas Rangers.

"It's a year older," Ringolsby said in explaining why Seattle is being picked to place so highly this season, "and I think the lineup has earned a lot of respect."

It has finally earned some respect from the national media as well as the opposition. Both Sport and Inside Sports magazines predicted the Mariners would finish second to Kansas City in the West this season, as did Ringolsby's paper in Dallas.

Second? That's heady stuff. That's the stuff of stretch drives, crucial series' and pennant races, of printing playoff tickets. That's knocking — forcefully — on the door to baseball's promised land.

It has taken Seattle nine long, hard years to achieve this kind of respect, but in this, its 10th anniversary season, it has been attained.

"I think it's coming together," said Chuck Armstrong, who begins his third season as the club's president. "The toughest hurdle is to convert the ability and potential into the reality."

"But you go around (the lineup), and the potential is there. We're better than Kansas City."

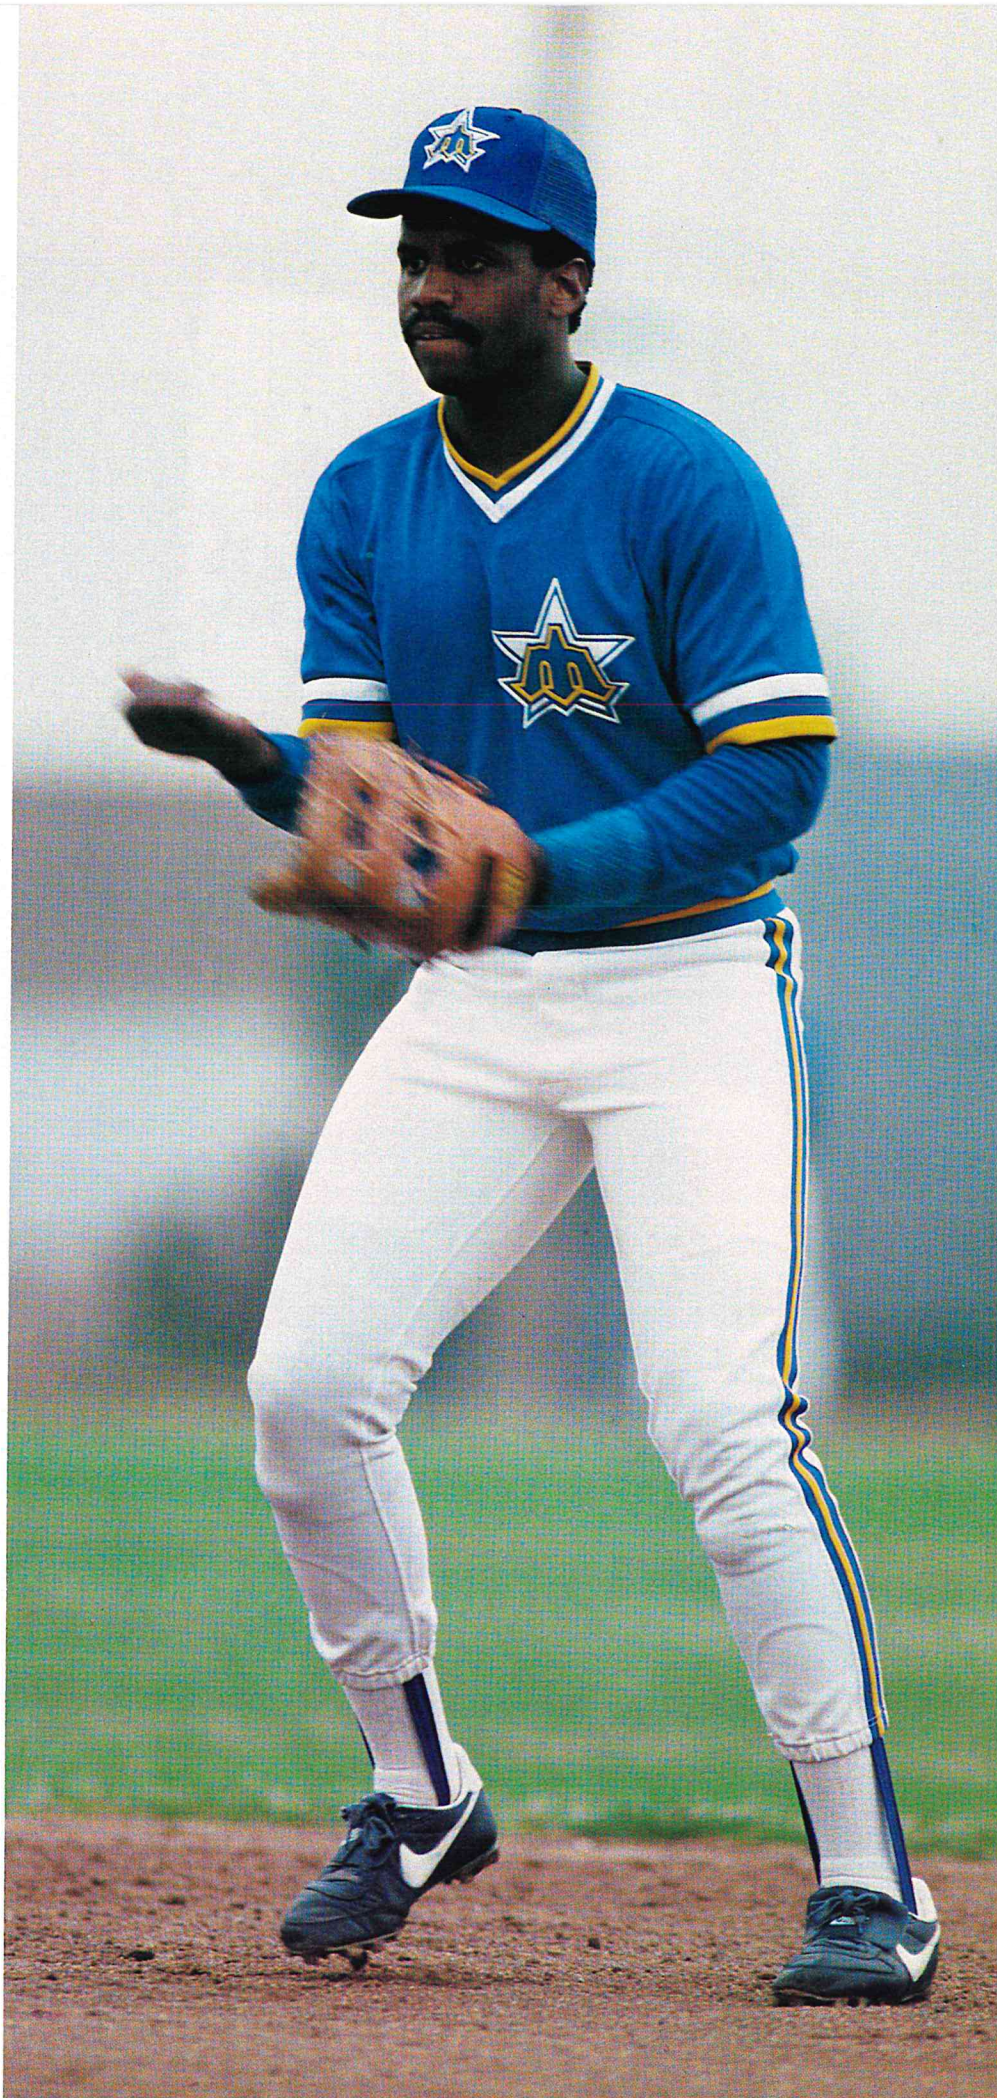

"The starting lineup more than matches Kansas City," agreed Ringolsby, who watched Seattle beat up on the Royals in 10 of their 13 meetings in 1985.

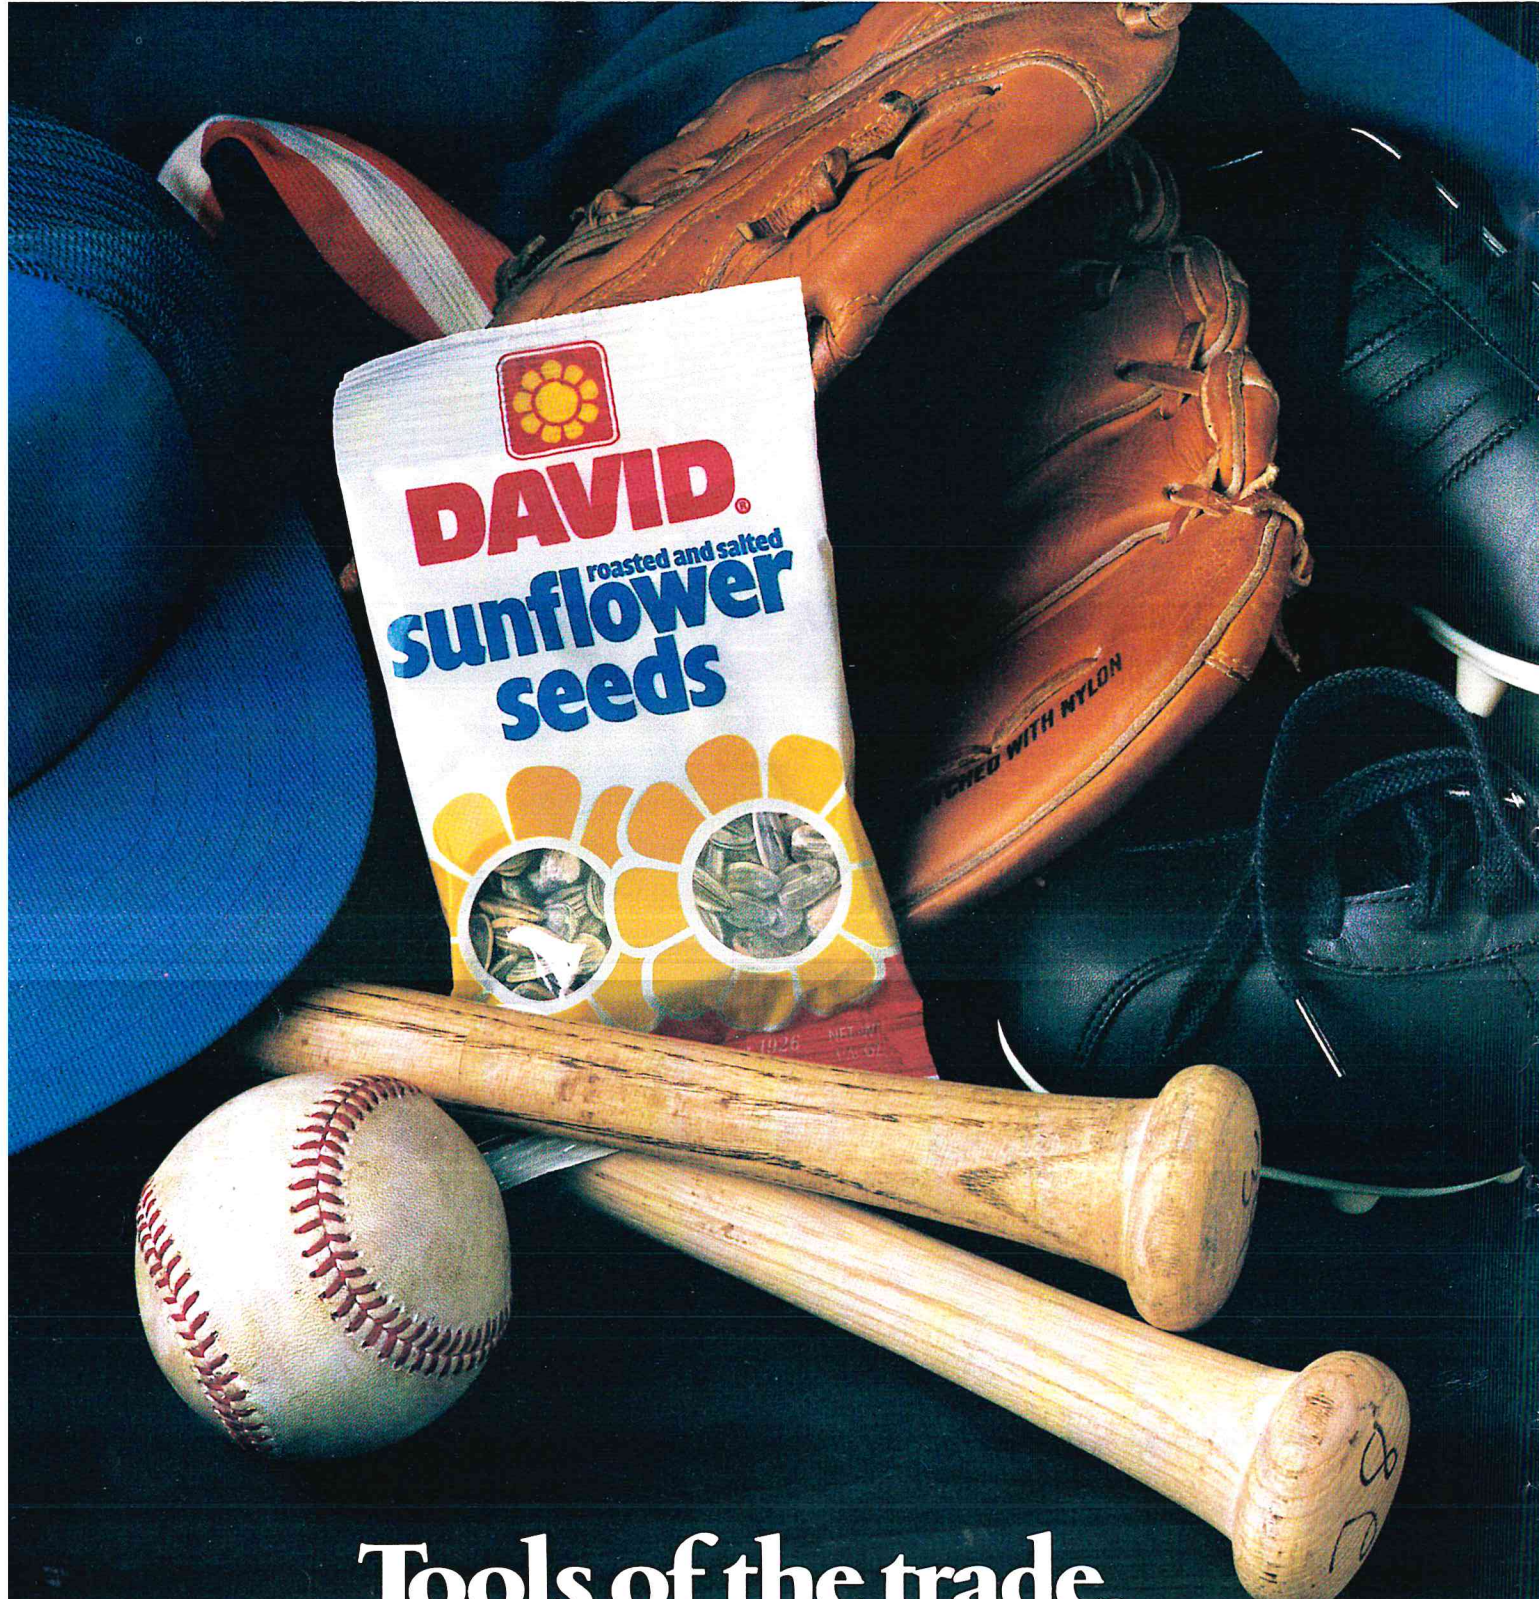

Still, what is so different about the Mariners this year? Catcher Steve Yeager, obtained in a trade from the Dodgers, is the only major roster change. The pitching staff, particularly the starting rotation, looks very similar to last season's. The lineup you see on the field right now is virtually the same as a year ago.

Why the difference? Why is this team the predictors almost automatically locked into the lower half of the division the first nine years, suddenly being picked to contend?

"I think we've opened some eyes the past couple of years, especially with our offense," said Alvin Davis. "They're (the predictors) assuming we'll be able to put some things together. They're expecting us to play up to our potential."

M'S / PNB AUTOGRAPH BOOTH OPEN FOR BUSINESS

EVERY FRIDAY NIGHT

Baseball collectors will be out in full force every Friday night this season, as the Pacific Northwest Bell Autograph Booth will feature Mariner players from 6:15 to 6:45 p.m. The Booth is located on the 100-level concourse opposite Aisle 133, and two Mariners will be on hand to sign photos.

Many fans have been collecting Mariner autographs since the inaugural season 1977, as well as obtaining the signatures of players from all the American League teams. Fans of all ages enjoy getting autographs of their favorite baseball players, and this is also a wonderful opportunity to meet the Mariners.

So plan on getting to the Kingdome early, watch some batting practice, and take advantage of the PNB-Mariner Autograph Booth. The sessions run 6:15 to 6:45 p.m. except for the afternoon game on August 1, when the players will be available from 12:15 to 12:45 p.m.

DAVE HENDERSON will anchor a "instant offense" outfield.

Ah, yes, potential. It ranks among the top 10 truisms in sports. It means, as you hear again and again, that you haven't done anything yet. But everyone predicts the Mariners will change all that this season.

"Winning (the division) is a possibility," Ringolsby said, "but you don't pick them to win because they don't have that many people who have been there in September."

That won't stop Seattle from trying, though.

"That's got to be our goal," said Davis. "If they're going to pick us second, we might as well finish first."

Davis is one of the big reasons the Mariners are earning some respect, but he's far from being the only one. A quick glance at the starting lineup proves that.

At first base, Davis, the league's 1984 rookie of the year, has turned in two solid seasons. His yearly averages include a .285 average, 33 doubles, 22 homers and 97 RBI.

At the other corner, at third base, Jim Presley blossomed into one of the league's best last season. Despite playing only part-time in 1984, his two-year averages consist of a .261 mark at the plate, 22 doubles, 19 homers and 60 RBI. In 1985, he crunched 28 homers and drove in 84 runs.

Shortstop Spike Owen may not have those kinds of powerful numbers, but his own have shown dramatic improvement each year. Last season, he batted .259, which was 14 points better than the previous year, which was 49 points better than his rookie campaign. And he has quietly become one of the top defensive players in the league at his position.

In the outfield, the potential for instant offense is tremendous.

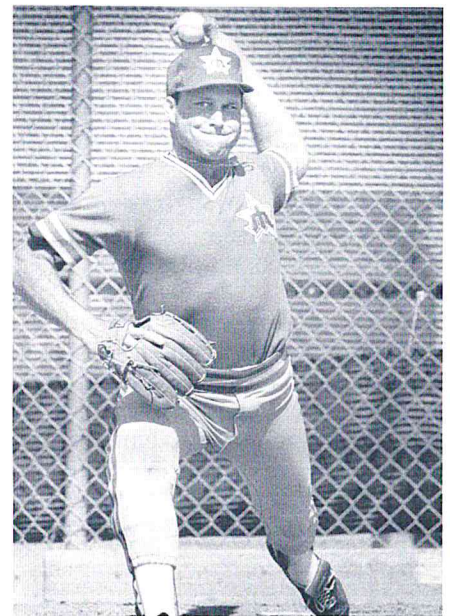

In two-plus seasons, left fielder Phil Bradley has compiled a .298 average that rises above .300 when his September, 1983, "cup of coffee" is removed. Last year, Bradley belted all 26 of his big-league homers and drove home 88 of his 117 career RBI.

Center fielder Dave Henderson, in 4½ big-league seasons, has averaged .253 at the plate with 21 doubles, 14 homers and 50 RBI. And in right field, Ivan Calderon is ready to burst onto the scene in a big-league way. In 78 games spread over the past two seasons, he has batted .278 with 9 homers and 29 RBI.

"I mean, we've got some people that can play the game," said Owen. "It's young talent, but its fairly experienced."

"There's Alvin Davis, Jim Presley, an outfield that's capable of no telling what this year. There's so much potential. There are a lot of hitters in that lineup, a lot of runs. It can be an explosive lineup."

Which brings us to the most explosive position in the lineup — designated hitter. Last year, Gorman Thomas belted 32 homers and drove in 87 runs. This year, Al Cowens and Ken Phelps are expected to fill the role at times in addition to providing depth in the field. Last season, Cowens had 14 homers and 69 RBI. Two years ago, the only time he's played in as many as MATT YOUNG will be a key figure in the M's pitching plans.

100 games (101), Phelps clubbed 24 homers.

As Ringolsby sees it, one of the most important things for the Mariners this season is simply to stay healthy. That's particularly true of the starting pitching rotation, which saw four of its five members go on the disabled list last season — including Jim Beattie twice.

"They could have one of the better rotations," said Ringolsby, if they stay healthy. "There's not really a glaring weakness on the team, if the starting pitching can stay healthy. It's solid."

With Jim Beattie starting the season on the disabled list due to a tender shoulder, the three main parts of the rotation are Mike Moore, Mark Langston and Matt Young.

"Langston and Moore have shown they can be dominating pitchers, and Matt Young too," said Ringolsby. "Last year, Moore finally realized what he has to do, and I don't think it was a fluke year with him."

Last year, Moore's fourth in Seattle, was a big one. His 17-10 record included a 3.46 ERA, 14 complete games, a pair of shutouts and 155 strikeouts. Additionally, he took a no-hitter into the ninth against Milwaukee and at one point won six straight — all complete games. From May 8 through the remainder of the season, the right-hander was 15-7 with a 2.96 ERA.

The year before was Langston's big one. That season, he was the 17-game winner, with a 3.40 ERA, five complete games, two shutouts and league-leading 204 strikeouts. He finished second to Davis in the balloting for AL rookie of the year.

In the bullpen, Seattle boasts Edwin Nunez, a strong, young (22) right-hander who already has 23 career saves, 16 of them last season when he went 7-3 with a 3.09 ERA, and Karl Best, an equally hard-throwing right-hander who was 2-1 with a 1.95 ERA and four saves before being injured midway through the season.

"Last year, and this even amazed me, we were 59-3 if we went into the seventh inning with a lead," Armstrong said.

The pitching staff is where Seattle's one major off-season acquisition may be felt most. Yeager spent 13 years behind the plate for the Dodgers, catching some of the best in the game and playing in four World Series. His ability to handle pitchers is the primary reason the Mariners brought him to the Northwest.

"Yeager could do a great job with those kids," Ringolsby said, referring to the fact Seattle's staff will probably average 26-28 years old.

"The opportunity is there for him to prove some of the things he can still do, and the prospect of winning the division might get him excited."

What all this means is that in their 10th season, the Mariners may excite a lot of people. The perception of them has already changed significantly, now all that's left is for reality to set in as favorably.

"I'm tired of talking about it," said Owen. "It's time for us to live up to our potential."

"I'm expecting big things from us too, and I'm not going to settle for anything less than winning it." ☆

STEVE YEAGER brings a winning attitude and his ability to handle young pitchers.

MANAGER

CHUCK COTTIER (15)

POSITION:
Former infielder
AGE: 50
BORN: 1-8-36
in Delta, Colo.
BATS: Right
THROWS: Right
HEIGHT: 5-11
WEIGHT: 180

NAMED MANAGER: November 9, 1984, after serving as interim manager during the final month of '84 season (replaced Del Crandall on Sept. 1, 1984) ... Fifth manager in club history ... Signed a one-year contract extension following the '85 season.

PERSONAL: Charles Keith Cottier (pronounced kot-tee-AIR) ... Resides in South Edmonds, Wash. with wife Laurie and daughter Cody. ... Attended Grand Junction (Colorado) High, where he lettered in baseball, basketball, football and wrestling ... Hobbies include golf and racquetball.

MANAGING/COACHING CAREER: Began his professional managerial career with Niagara Falls (New York-Penn. A) in 1971, and his team got off to an 8-3 start; an Achilles tendon injury forced him to miss the remainder of the season ... In first full season at Niagara Falls, led club to league title ... Was out of baseball from 1974-76, then returned in 1977 as a manager in the Angels' system ... 4-year record as a minor league manager was 287-197, never finishing below 3rd place ... Served as the New York Mets' third base coach and infield coach 1979-81 ... Served as M's third base coach for 4 seasons prior to being named manager.

PLAYING CAREER: After five seasons in the minor leagues, made it to the major leagues for the first time in 1959 with the Milwaukee Braves ... Spent four full seasons in the big leagues with the Washington Senators, 1961-64 ... Enjoyed his finest day in the big leagues on Aug. 6, 1963, when he homered twice and drove in 4 runs to beat Whitey Ford and the Yankees; it was Ford's only loss in 13 lifetime decisions vs. Washington ... Spent the entire 1967 season with the Seattle Angels ... In 1969, an injury to his Achilles tendon ended his playing career as a member of the California Angels.

Win a brand-new '86 Chevy S-10 Blazer, or one of 6,100 instant prizes in CARQUEST Auto Parts Stores' Drive It Home Sweepstakes.

Here's how to play:

Every time you visit your neighborhood CARQUEST Auto Parts Store, you'll get a Drive It Home Sweepstakes Rub 'n' Win card. You'll find out instantly if you've won a $1.00 cash prize, or a $5.00 or $10.00 gift certificate. And the same card will qualify you for the Blazer Grand Prize drawing. The more often you play, the more chances you'll have to drive home a winner.

You're always a winner at CARQUEST.

There are more than fifty CARQUEST stores here in the Northwest, all backed by a no-nonsense Coast-To-Coast Guarantee. CARQUEST combines national organization with neighborhood ownership—which is why you can trust CARQUEST, and your CARQUEST Qualified CounterPro, for the right parts at the right price plus the right advice.

Complete contest rules available at participating CARQUEST Stores. You may also receive a sweepstakes game card by sending a self-addressed, stamped return envelope to CARQUEST, P.O. Box 31640, Seattle, Washington 98103.

A $300 Discount, Right Off the Bat!

National Car Rental's Value Plus® used cars are one of the sweetest deals anywhere.

GREAT PRICES. Value Plus cars start at prices hundreds below the regular retail market. And now, National makes a great deal even better with a $300 discount off the purchase price.

GREAT VALUE. National's used cars are "cream puffs," averaging only about a year old. They're well-equipped, popular models—the cream of the rental fleet. Each has had better maintenance than most privately owned cars. And each comes with National's exclusive 2-year/24,000 mile limited warranty covering every major system on the car.

Present this ad at the time of purchase, now through December 31, 1985, and enjoy your sweet deal on a cream puff!

National's used cars—they're called Value Plus for good reason.

Frederick and Cadillac. A marriage of convenience.

When Frederick and Cadillac got together, their union was the beginning of conveniences for you, the customer.

Conveniences like choosing from a huge selection that includes even the rare O'Gara Limousine. In fact, Frederick is the largest Cadillac dealership in Washington State.

Conveniences like dealing with professional sales people who know their business is to help you choose exactly the right Cadillac and the right financing or lease option.

And, to top it off, conveniences like getting the best possible service after you become a Cadillac owner.

Frederick and Cadillac. You'll swear this marriage was made in heaven.

WELCOME TO THE KINGDOME

The Kingdome, owned and operated by King County, is one of seven professional domed stadiums operating in North America. It is covered by the world's largest self-supporting concrete roof. The Houston Astrodome has a steel frame supporting a roof of skylights, while the Louisiana Superdome employs a steel frame, covered with aluminum. The Pontiac Silverdome in Michigan, the HHH Metrodome in Minneapolis, the Hoosierdome in Indianapolis, and the B.C. Place Stadium in Vancouver, Canada all are covered by an inflated air bubble of teflon-coated fiberglass.

The Kingdome was constructed at a cost of $67 million, funded by a combination of property taxes and a 2% hotel/motel tax. Since the stadium's opening, tourism has increased dramatically. As a result the hotel/motel tax revenue has also grown, and now assumes the entire yearly debt payment of $2½ million. As of January 1981, property taxes were no longer collected to finance the Kingdome. The taxpayers of King County ended up paying only $11½ million for their $67 million Dome.

In addition to the Mariners, the Kingdome is home for the Seattle Seahawks of the National Football League and the Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association.

The Kingdome's capacity for baseball of 59,438 is the fourth largest among the 14 American League ball parks, behind Cleveland Stadium (76,685), Anaheim Stadium (67,335), and the HHH Metrodome (63,000).

Only three other American League stadiums, in addition to the Kingdome, have an artificial playing surface: Royals Stadium in Kansas City, Exhibition Stadium in Toronto, and the HHH Metrodome in Minneapolis. Six of the National League's twelve stadiums utilize artificial turf.

The Kingdome also features Mitsubishi's "Diamond Vision", the latest state of the art in video display systems and one of the world's largest color video screens. The screen was installed in September, 1981 and was the second in major league baseball (the first was at Dodgers Stadium.)

Baseball is played on a full field of astroturf, a synthetic grass surface manufactured by Monsanto. The turf is one-half inch thick with a ⅝ inch thick energy-absorbent foam pad underneath. The turf comes in 15-foot wide sections fastened together with "Dual-Lock", a Velcro-like concept, which is recessed and covered by an overlapping flap. When not in use, the turf is rolled up and stored on shelves outside the arena.

To form the baseball configuration a section of bleachers is retracted by a hydraulic system and covered with the insertion of the outfield wall. Cut-outs in the astroturf provide areas of dirt for the bases and sliding, as well as the pitcher's mound, which is maintained on a removable platform. Portable dugouts are carried by forklifts and positioned at the tunnels to the Kingdome's locker rooms.

The Kingdome is ready to play ball!

DOME GUIDE

PARKING: The two Kingdome lots (North and South) have a combined 2,241 individual spaces.

TICKET WINDOWS: Box, reserved and view seats are on sale at the Northwest, Southwest and Southeast ticket windows. General admission seats can only be purchased at the Northeast ticket windows. All ticket windows open two hours before the scheduled start time of each game.

COURTESY WINDOW: Outside the Dome, the Mariner Courtesy Window is located at Gate D. This window serves as the Paid Will Call Window. Any ticketing questions or problems are handled here. In addition, advance tickets are sold at the Mariner Courtesy Window.

GATE OPENING: All gates open two hours before the scheduled start time of each game.

FAN RELATIONS BOOTH: Inside the Kingdome, the Mariner Fan Relations Booth is located inside Gate B on the Arena Level. Schedules and other Mariner information is available here. And should you have any questions or problems, please go to this Booth for assistance.

FIRST AID: The First Aid station is located next to the elevator at Gate B on the 100-level concourse (opposite Aisles 117-119). Ask any Kingdome usher or security person for assistance.

HANDICAPPED FANS: Special parking is available in the Kingdome's North Lot. Wheelchair space is available on the 200-level, and the elevators are located at Gates B and D.

ADVANCE TICKETS: During all home games, fans may purchase advance tickets to upcoming Mariner games at Aisles 109 and 124 on the 100-level concourse.

JR. MARINER BOOTH: Mariner Baseball information is also available to general admission ticket holders at Aisle 124, which serves as the Pepsi Jr. Mariner Booth. Youngsters 14 and under may sign up for the Pepsi Jr. Mariners during all home games.

CAR TROUBLE? The Mariners and the Kingdome provide emergency car service free of charge in the Kingdome lots. If you have car trouble, please contact a parking attendant or security person.

AMERICAN LEAGUE STANDINGS: While sitting in any seat at the Kingdome, you can check the up-to-date A.L. standings by simply looking at the banners along the facing of the 300-level in right field. The pennants are arranged daily in order of the standing of both the western and eastern divisions.

FAMILY SECTIONS: Special non-alcohol "Family Sections" are available in all five seating categories for Mariner games. No alcoholic beverages may be sold or brought into these seats.

LOST AND FOUND: For claiming or reporting lost articles or children, contact Kingdome Security on arena level, opposite Gate F.

PAGING: No paging of patrons by name is possible, except in cases of extreme emergency. Physicians on call should register at Security headquarters.

MARINERS IN THE COMMUNITY

HONOR STUDENT PROGRAM ASSISTS EDUCATION

One of the main focuses of the Mariner organization is to encourage students to work hard, earn good grades, and receive Mariner baseball tickets as a reward. The Seattle Times/Mariners Honor Student program has rewarded nearly 140,000 junior high and high school students with tickets over the past ten years.

In addition, the Boeing Company and the Mariners have teamed up to recognize the academic excellence of high school baseball teams in the state of Washington again in 1986. The top combined grade point average in the state at all four levels (AAA, AA, A, B) as determined by the WIAA will receive a plaque, and $1,000 will go directly to the school's athletic department.

Hollywood Stars Benefit Softball Game: The Hollywood All-Stars, a team of television and movie celebrities, will play a benefit softball game against the Seattle Seahawks prior to the Mariner-Tiger game on Saturday, May 31. The softball game begins at 5:15 pm; the M's-Tiger game at 7:05 . . . The annual dinner to benefit the local ALS "Lou Gehrig Disease" chapter is set for Tuesday, May 27. The dinner features the Mariners and Yankees . . . Library Reading Program: Children should check with their local library system this summer to participate in the Mariners Library Reading Program. Last season, over 1,000 kids took part and earned tickets to see Mariner Baseball.

GROUND RULES

- 1) Photographer's Area: The ball is "in play" if it hits retaining fence and bounces back into the playing field.
- 2) Hitting Roof or Speakers: Batted ball hitting roof or speakers in FAIR territory shall be judged in relation to where it lands or is touched by a fielder. If caught by a fielder, the batter is out and base runners advance at their own risk.

Batted ball hitting roof or speakers in FOUL territory is a foul ball, regardless of where it lands or is caught. If the ball is caught by a fielder the batter is out and the base runners advance at their own risk.

Batted ball sticking in speaker in foul territory shall be called a strike. Batted ball sticking in speaker in fair territory shall be a ground rule double.

- 3) Outfield Area: Fairly batted ball clearing the wall is a homerun. Fairly batted ball bouncing over the wall is a ground rule double.
- 4) Dugouts: A ball shall be considered "thrown into the dugout" only if it hits an object or person within the dugout. A thrown ball hitting the lip at the base of the dugout or the frame around the dugout and bouncing back into the playing field shall be "in play."

It's Sunday. How come you're shaving?

Because we're going to the game.

Are we sitting by the cheerleaders?

At a baseball game? Very funny.

Actually, I just wanted to shave.

You really love that Norelco, don't you?

Well it is America's leading electric.

Besides, it gives me a close shave.

As close as a blade?

Yep. Feel.

Wow.

See, Norelco is the only electric with lifters inside that raise the whisker up, so the blades can shave razor-close.

It's a real performance machine.

Bet you'd cry if it ever broke down.

Nope. It's got a money-back guarantee and a full two-year warranty.

What happens when it runs out of juice?

I just plug it in, and bingo, I've got the fastest, longest-lasting charge of any leading razor.

Speaking of long-lasting charges...

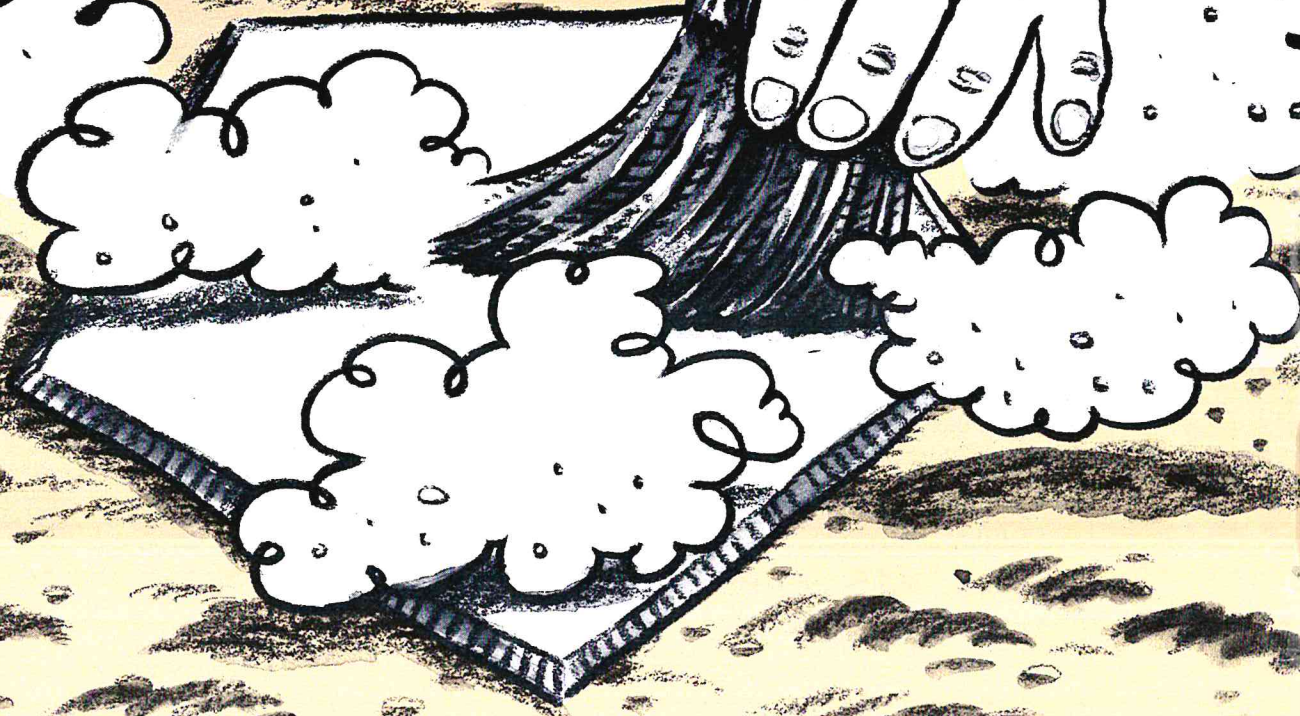

Forget it, we'll be late for the game.

EQUITABLE BRINGS THE OLD-TIMERS HOME.

THE EQUITABLE OLD-TIMERS' SERIES

Things have changed.

Hot dogs used to be 5¢. The season was only 154 games long. And kids could see a doubleheader for half a buck.

What hasn't changed, though, is America's love for baseball's greats. At Equitable, we share the feeling and are proud to be the sole sponsor of the first official old-timers' series.

Games are played on weekends from May through September and are held at all 26 Major League ballparks. For the first time ever, fans in every town can see their childhood heroes take to the field.

This is just another one of our commitments to professional baseball. In fact, we've been providing financial opportunities to the Major Leagues since 1947.

Maybe you should touch base with us and see what opportunities we can provide for you.

The Equitable Old-Timers' Series. See the legends come home, where they belong.

SEATTLE MARINERS/KINGDOME "EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH"

Each month, with considerable help from the fans, the Seattle Mariners select a Kingdome "Employee of the Month." Any fan seeing an employee of the Kingdome doing an exceptional job of serving our in-park guests, or "going the extra mile," may call or write the Mariners office to let us know. These members of our 110% Club receive a dinner at the Palm Court in The Westin Hotel, and receive recognition in ON DECK, as well as on Diamond Vision. If you see a Kingdome employee doing an exceptional job of serving you, or someone else, please contact: Mr. William T. Knudsen, V.P. Marketing and Sales, Seattle Mariners Baseball Club, P.O. Box 4100, Seattle, WA 98104, (206) 628-3555.

Diamond Girls

To be a winner in the eyes of the fans, the Mariners strive to be successful both on and off the field. As the Mariners compete against the rest of the American League on the baseball diamond, another team of Mariners is working to make the baseball organization a successful part of the community.

The Mariner Diamond Girls is a team of enthusiastic young ladies age 15 to 24 who represent the Mariners in parades, schools, hospital visitations, as well as at the Kingdome. At each Mariner game, a Mariner Diamond girl is in the Mariner Fan Relations Booth, at the Pepsi Junior Mariner Headquarters Booth at Aisle 124, and on each side line on-field retrieving foul balls during the games.

The Mariners are proud to have the Diamond Girls on board in 1986. They are Big League Stuff!

GURING TATISTICS

Percentage of Games Won and Lost — Divide the number of games won by the total games won and lost.

Pitching Average — Divide the total number of safe hits (not the total bases) by the total times at bat. (A sacrifice bunt, sacrifice fly, hit-by-pitch, base on balls, or catcher's interference does not count as a time at bat.)

Total Bases — The total number of bases the batter touched on one safe hit. Example — a single two doubles and a home run would be 9 total bases.

Winning Percentage — Divide the total bases of all safe hits by the total times at bat.

On-Base Percentage — Divide the total of hits, all bases on balls, and hit by pitch the total of at bats, all bases on balls, hit by pitch and sacrifice flies.

(For the purpose of computing on-base percentage, ignore being awarded first base on interference or obstruction.)

Earned Run Average — Multiply the total earned runs charged against his pitching by 9, and divide the results by the total number of innings pitched. Example — 9 1/3 innings pitched and 3 earned runs is an ERA of 2.89 (3 ER times 9 divided by 9.33 equals 2.89)

Fielding Average — Divide the total putouts and assists by the total of putouts, assists and errors.

Winning and Losing Pitcher — Credit the starting pitcher with a game won only if he has pitched at least five complete innings and his team not only is in the lead when he is replaced but remains in the lead the remainder of the game.

When the starting pitcher cannot be credited with the victory and more than one relief pitcher is used, the victory shall be awarded as follows:

1) When, during the tenure of the starter, the winning team assumes the lead and maintains it to the finish, credit the win to the reliever judged by the scorer to have been most effective;

2) Whenever the score is tied the game becomes a new contest insofar as the winning and losing pitcher is concerned.

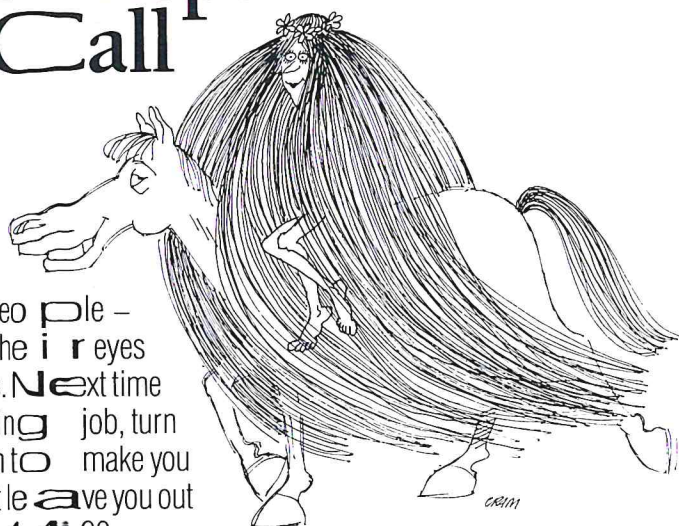

3) Once the opposing team assumes the lead all pitchers who have pitched to that point are excluded from the decision, except that if the pitcher against whose pitching the opposing team gained the lead continues to pitch until his team regains the lead, which it holds to the finish of the game, that pitcher shall be the winner.

4) The winning relief pitcher shall be the one who is the pitcher of record when his team assumes the lead and maintains it to the finish of the game.

Complete rules on winning and losing pitchers are located in section 10.19 of the baseball rule book.*
